Women and men from across Albuquerque joined forces to make a difference in someone’s life. Over the course of one week, nine teams volunteered at the job site to build a home for Christina and her child.

“I am so thankful that you donate your time and money to build a home for us,” said Christina, future homeowner. “Without you all and Habitat for Humanity, a single parent like myself would not be able to afford a decent home.”

Habitat for Humanity’s Women Build program educates and inspires women to build and advocate for decent and affordable homes in their communities. Women Build is an opportunity to learn hands-on, practical skills while helping to improve someone’s quality of life through homeownership.

“It just emphasizes how important women are – not just in building, but in society in general,” said Jeanne Elmhorst, 2019 Women Build team leader.

Everyone who participated in Women Build is helping to make this single mom’s dream of homeownership a reality. Thank you for your generosity.

Thank you to Talia Freedman & Co. Real Estate for sponsoring Women Build Week.
a brand new start

you gave this mom hope

Each Habitat home is built with a tremendous amount of love and hope. If you’ve witnessed a home dedication then you know it’s an emotional day when it all comes together and a family receives the keys to their very first home.

Nicole dedicated hundreds of hours to building her home while raising a toddler on her own and working a full time job. “There are no words to express as a single mother, out here on my own, how good it feels to be able to provide my daughter with a home,” said Nicole during the dedication of the 2018 Women Build House. “I’m so excited to make memories and watch Snow grow up in our new home.”

Every part of Habitat’s mission is possible because of people like you. Thank you to all the Women Build teams for volunteering and raising money to help build Nicole’s home. And thank you to Wells Fargo and Bank of America for partnering with Habitat to make the dream of homeownership possible for more families.

because of you, this family has a brighter future

Ahmad and Brishna’s lives were forever changed when they fled their country, became refugees and relocated to the United States in 2016. Ahmad and Brishna always dreamed of a better life for their children and now, as homeowners, they can provide a safe and stable environment for their family.

After Ahmad received the keys to his new home he said, “I spent a lifetime of bad memories in my home country of Afghanistan. I can’t believe we own a home in the United States. Everything is blessed with your help.”

Thank you for giving hope

This year’s Raising the Roof with Love breakfast brought in over $100,000 to help end the cycle of poverty and build brighter futures for 22 families. Thank you to everyone who joined us for the breakfast. Your support means families have the opportunity to own a home they can afford and are able to better their life and the lives of their children.
